Brislington Brook Trails

Tactile discovery in a beautiful, secret valley

On the trail...

Three new all-in-one trails have been created for St Anne's Wood and Nightingale Valley. They are metal rubbing plaques at nine locations. Follow each one at the same time or go back another day and follow a different trail.

Each one tells you something about the fascinating history of this beautiful valley. You can also find out about its woodland wealth and wildlife hotspots.

What you need

To make rubbings, all you need is paper and either crayons, a soft pencil or charcoal. The darker the crayon the better the result.

Woodland

- ▶ What does it mean for woodland to be ancient?
- ▶ How do flowers tell us about the age of woodland?
- ▶ Which wood was used for wattle and daub buildings?

History

- ▶ What was so important about the chapel that once stood in St Anne's Valley?
- ▶ Who were the pilgrims and why did they visit?
- ▶ Where were coins and tokens found?

Wildlife

- ▶ How many insects can a bat eat in one night?
- ▶ Why is it a good sign that otters are returning to the valley?
- ▶ What birds are found here - past and present?
